Answer: B

NEW QUESTION: 4

Which two statements describe the security policy attachment features of Oracle SOA Suite 11g?

- A. The order in which policies are attached to a subject determines the order in which the policies are executed.
- B. JDeveloper groups the policy that can be attached into the five categories of interceptors.
- C. Only one security polity can be attached to a web service at a time.
- D. In JDeveloper, a security policy can be attached to a web service, but it can be marked as either enabled or disabled.

Answer: A,D

Explanation:

Note:

*If necessary, add additional policies.

You can temporarily disable a policy by deselecting the checkbox to the left of the name of the attached policy. This action does not detach the policy.

*You can attach or detach policies to and from service binding components, service components, and reference binding components in a SOA composite application. Use Oracle JDeveloper to attach policies for testing security in a design-time environment. When your application is ready for deployment to a production environment, you can attach or detach runtime policies in Oracle Enterprise Manager Fusion Middleware Control Console.
