Which of the following actions assures management that the organization's objectives are protected from the occurrence of risk events?

A. Explanation:

Internal controls are the actions taken by the organization to help to assure management that the organization's objectives are protected from the occurrence of risk events. Internal control objectives are applicable to all manual or automated areas. Internal control objectives include: Internal accounting controls- They control accounting operations, including safeguarding assets and financial records. Operational controls- They focus on day-to-day operations, functions, and activities. They ensure that all the organization's objectives are being accomplished. Administrative controls- They focus on operational efficiency in a functional area and stick to management policies.

B. is incorrect. Risk management is the identification, assessment, and prioritization of risks followed by coordinated and economical application of resources. It is done to minimize, monitor, and control the probability and impact of unfortunate events or to maximize the realization of opportunities.

C. Hedging

D. Internal control

E. is incorrect. Risk assessment is a process of analyzing the identified risk, both quantitatively and qualitatively. Quantitative risk assessment requires calculations of two components of risk, the magnitude of the potential loss, and the probability that the loss will occur. While qualitatively risk assessment checks the severity of risk. The assessment attempts to determine the likelihood of the risk being realized and the impact of the risk on the operation. This provides several conclusions: Probability-establishing the likelihood of occurrence and reoccurrence of specific risks, independently and combined.

Interdependencies-the relationship between different types of risk. For instance, one risk may have greater potential of occurring if another risk has occurred. Or probability or impact of a situation may increase with combined risk.

F. Risk management

G. Risk assessment

Answer: D

Explanation:

is incorrect. Hedging is the process of managing the risk of price changes in physical material by offsetting that risk in the futures market. In other words, it is the avoidance of risk. So, it only avoids risk but can not assure protection against risk.

NEW QUESTION: 4

By default, how does a GET VPN group member router handle traffic when it is unable to register to a key server?

A. All traffic through the router is dropped.

B. All traffic is forwarded through the router encrypted.

C. All traffic is queued until registration is successful or the queue is full.

D. All traffic is forwarded through the router unencrypted.

Answer: D

Explanation:

Explanation/Reference:

Explanation:

In the basic GETVPN configuration, the traffic passing through group members will be sent in clear until it registers with the Key Server. This is because the crypto ACL is configured on the KS and GM will get that information only after the registration is successful. This means for a short period of time the traffic can go out unencrypted after a GM is booted up or the existing GETVPN session is cleared manually. This mode is called "fail open" and it is the default behavior. This behavior can be turned off by configuring "Fail Close" mode on the GMs.
