Answer: A

Explanation:

Use groups to assign permissions to IAM users

Instead of defining permissions for individual IAM users, it's usually more convenient to create groups that relate to job functions (administrators, developers, accounting, etc.), define the relevant permissions for each group, and then assign IAM users to those groups. All the users in an IAM group inherit the permissions assigned to the group. That way, you can make changes for everyone in a group in just one place. As people move around in your company, you can simply change what IAM group their IAM user belongs to.

NEW QUESTION: 2

Your company has created a set of keys using the AWS KMS service. They need to ensure that each key is only used for certain services. For example, they want one key to be used only for the S3 service. How can this be achieved?

Please select:

- A. Define an IAM user, allocate the key and then assign the permissions to the required service
- B. Create a bucket policy that allows the key to be accessed by only the S3 service.
- C. Create an IAM policy that allows the key to be accessed by only the S3 service.
- D. Use the `kms:ViaService` condition in the Key policy

Answer: D

Explanation:

Option A and B are invalid because mapping keys to services cannot be done via either the IAM or bucket policy. Option D is invalid because keys for IAM users cannot be assigned to services. This is mentioned in the AWS Documentation. The `kms:ViaService` condition key limits use of a customer-managed CMK to requests from particular AWS services. (AWS managed CMKs in your account, such as `aws/s3`, are always restricted to the AWS service that created them.) For example, you can use `kms:ViaService` to allow a user to use a customer managed CMK only for requests that Amazon S3 makes on their behalf. Or you can use it to deny the user permission to a CMK when a request on their behalf comes from AWS Lambda.

For more information on key policy's for KMS please visit the following URL:

<https://docs.aws.amazon.com/kms/latest/developerguide/policy-conditions.html> The correct answer is: Use the `kms:ViaService` condition in the Key policy. Submit your Feedback/Queries to our Experts
